PRESIDENT THE ISSUE

SENATOR HILL OPENED CAM-PAIGN IN NEW YORK STATE.

Feature of Address is Abuse of Roose velt-Bailey Also Criticises the Executive.

A dispatch from Binghamton, N. Y., says: Former Senator David B. Hill opened the democratic campaign in Broome county today in a speech at the agriculture fair at Deposit. In the course of his address Senator Hill touched upon the tariff question, saying that he believed in an honest revision of the tariff laws so that vast corporated interests should not be subserved to the detriment of the people. Referring to the financial interests of the country the senator said:

"The gold standard has been irrevocably established, so that there is no necessity for a change. The democratic party which established the present currency system can safely be trusted whenever the necessity shall arise to make such changes for the best interests of the people."

Speaking of the essential differences be-tween the republican and the democratic parties the speaker said the difference is that the republican party stands for pri-vate purposes and the democratic party for public purposes.

"Theodore Roosevelt, the republican candidate for the presidency," declared Mr. Hill, "is a fraud. At the time he took his oath of office in Buffalo after the assassination of President McKinley, he declared in public that he would simply fill McKinley's place that he would not look McKinley's place, that he would not look for renomination. Later on the same train with McKinley's dead body, he gave out a statement to the press, to the effect that he thought he had been misunderstood by the public, which meant practi-cally that he was a candidate for nomination. The republicans had him on their hands and could do nothing but nominate Bailey Makes President the Issue.

A dispatch from New York last night says: The campaign in Brooklyn was opened tonight by a meeting held under the auspices of the Kings County Demoeratic Club, at which Senator Joseph W. Bailey of Texas was the principal speaker. Resolutions indorsing the nomination of Parker and Davis were read, and after an introductory address, in which he reviewed the political situation, Edward M. Shepard, chairman of the meeting, introduced Sena-tor Bailey, who was greeted with prolonged applause.

"It has never happened heretofore," said the senator, "and it will seldom happen hereafter, that the personal opinions and conduct of candidates have determined, or will determine, the suffrage of so many voters as in this campaign." He would not utter one syllable about the private character or habits of the President.

"We sought to nominate a candidate," he continued, "who in his private and domestic life is as much like Roosevelt, and who in all other respects was as much unlike him, as we could find, him, as we could find.

They tell us that the President is honest. Let us grant it, but let us remember that he is as erratic as he is honest. They tell us that the President is brave, and so he is but he is as rash as he is grave. If we were seeking a soldier I would prefer the President over almost any other man now in public life, but as we are seeking a statesman I would prefer almost any man now in public life over the President. He would be one of the best men to lead a desperate charge in a time of war, but he would be one of the best men to lead a desperate charge in a time of war. but he is one of the worst men to administer a great government in a time of peace. I do not undervalue the soldler whose courage or ambition carries him to glory or to death. While such men are more useful under other forms of government, they are useful under ours. They are not so useful, however, as those other men who have the firmness and the self-restraint when clothed with the power to obey the laws, to obey them as they have been written, resolutely refusing to violate their letter under the old and dangerous pretense of preserving their spirit."

The West Virginia Contest.

Representative Joseph H. Gaines of West Virginia called at the republican congressional headquarters today and left with Chairman Babcock a statement that the republican nomination in the third West Virginia district was claimed by himself and William E. Edwards. He requested that the campaign committee hear and de-termine which is the regular nominee and Chairman Babcock will write Edwards asking if he also will leave the matter to the committee to decide.

Landis Defends a Larger Navy.

Representative Charles B. Landis of Indiana talked for an hour at a noonday meeting of commercial travelers in Broadway today. He spoke especially in support of the President's policy of a larger navy, asserting that no city in the world was so much interested in having a large navy

Utah Republicans.

A dispatch from Salt Lake, Utah, last night says: After a bitter all-day fight John C. Cutler of Salt Lake was nomnated for governor by the republican state convention today on the second ballot. The fight for the governorship was a three-cornered one between Gov. H. V. M. Wells, J. H. Hammond, present secretary of state and John C. Cutler, a prominent merchant of Salt Lake, and absorbed the attention of the delegates to the exclusion of the rest of the ticket. Mr. Hammond withdrew after the first ballot. The second ballot stood, Cutler, 239; Wells, 221.

following additional nominations were made: Secretary of state, C. S. Tingey; justice of the supreme court, D. N. Strup; state treasurer, James Christian-Charges that church influence was being used in behalf of Mr. Cutler were freely made by the adherents of Gov. Wells and Mr. Hammond. Indirectly the fight for the United States senatorship in the Utah legis-lature next winter was brought into today's contest. Senator Smoot, who is one of the twelve apostles of the Mormon Church, ing an open and active supporter of Mr. Cutler, while Gov. Wells was helped in his campaign by Senator Kearns. During the balloting the feeling between the Wells and Cutler adherents broke forth several times. but charges of church influence which were expected to be made in the convention hall not materialize.

COMPLAINING SHIPPERS.

They Are Advised to Seek Redress From the Prize Court.

The State Department has advised American shippers who have complained of the seizure of goods by the Russians as contraband of war that they must seek redress from the prize court at Vladivostok. A case in point was brought to the atten tion of the department yesterday when Balfour, Guthrie & Co., grain shippers of Seattle, complained that a shipment of flour belonging to them was seized on the British ship Calchas.

The department has informed the com-pany that it cannot undertake to make these seizures a matter of diplomatic correspondence, but advised the complainant to employ counsel for the purpose of lodging a protest with the prize court at Vladivo-stok. The department believes that no time should be lost in taking this step, and the opinion is expressed that these cases will finally be carried to the council of admiralty at St. Petersburg. American shippers are advised to employ counsel before the admiralty also. It is recommended that Russian lawyers be employed.

Electric Plant of Ordnance Foundry.

The new electric power house at the naval ordnance foundry here is rapidly approaching completion and will be in use early in the fall. The walls of the structure are finished and the roof is being put on, and in a few days the interior of the building will be ready for the installation of the valuable electrical machinery that is to furnish the big gun shops with light for

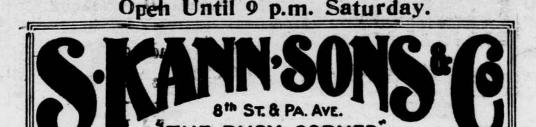

Two tall brick stacks come from the roof of the building and are visible for several miles down the river. Viewed from the deck of a vessel on the river, the new building is the most imposing one at the navy yard.
